MRS. DEXHEIMER'S STORY

From the New York Herald's ac-count of the Deshelmer-Roosevelt matter, I take the following: A woman converted from the infi-dellty of Anarchy to Christianity has just disclosed an alleged Anarchist plot by which, she says, President Roosevelt's life was threatened three times.

There is a school teaching advertising by mill, with affices at 10 Sprince Street, New York. It is not called an advertising school; but it is without a doubt the best advertising school in existence. This school is nothing more nor less than Printer's link, a week-ly Journal for advertisers.

It deserves the well-samed title: The Little Schoolmaster. It deserves the well-samed title: The Little Schoolmaster. It deserves the well-samed title: The Little Schoolmaster. Printer's link is not without the civilized world. Printer's link is no violative intended to the civilized world. Printer's link is no violative intended to discuss the content of the civilized world. Printer's link is no violative intended and had nevertising. It teaches good display. It teaches good display. It teaches retail, wholesale, department store, mail order and every other kind of advertising.

It tells why some advertising has been successful and why some has failed.

I failed.
It teaches sound business principles.
It describes the world's best window displays.
If you are engaged in business of any kind you can't I re profitably than by anberlibing for Printers' ink.
